

FRENCH WITHOUT TEARS

Having just stayed in a great hotel (The Crown near Holkham in Norfolk) thanks to Livingetc's feature on British beaches (Not-

So-Distant Shores, July),

I thought it only fair to share a fabulous and affordable hotel I've found in Paris – modern, chic, right in the centre and I paid just £60.

From the Ligne Roset sofas in reception to the lavish toiletries in the all-white bathrooms, this hotel oozes style, modernity and comfort. Check it out at www.legeneralhotel.com.

Thanks so much, John. We've looked at the website and although the standard tariff seems to be nearer £100, it looks gorgeous – and well worth the money. If anyone else out there has any top travel tips, do let us know.
